Full-Stack Developer

Summary

As a young and passionate full-stack developer with diverse international experience, I possess a keen interest in technology and an insatiable appetite for learning. Recently having completed EPICODE's full-stack developer boot camp, I've acquired a comprehensive set of skills in web development, including TypeScript, React, Express, and Node.js. I am currently searching for a full-stack developer position within a dynamic and innovative company that will help me to continue polishing my technical skills and personal growth while making a valuable contribution to the organization.
